

KUROPATKIN WILL USE AUTOMOBILES

Russian Chief Dashes Along Line in New Twenty-Horse Power Machine.

CHINESE TERROR STRICKEN

Believe Whizzing Carriage Is New Specimen of the "Foreign Devil."

(By Associated Press.)
CHIEF FOO, Nov. 28.—General Kuropatkin is the possessor of a new twenty-horse power automobile with which he is able to rush at high speed from one part to another of the line, twenty-five miles long, according to M. Ravor, who reached here to-day from Mukden. M. Ravor spent three weeks with General Kuropatkin, who wished to secure twenty automobiles specially constructed to carry ammunition speedily in emergency. He will use them only in winter when the Manchurian roads are in excellent condition. On his first trip in the new automobile, Kuropatkin's only comment was: "I have the advantage of General Staff."

The Chinese now regard Kuropatkin and his machine with superstitious awe, believing the latter to be an atrociously powerful specimen of the "foreign devil." M. Ravor said: "The two armies are facing each other, each occupying three fortified lines. The soldiers of both armies live mostly in caves, behind their trenches, which, when covered with snow, have the appearance of a great host of polar bears waiting to spring at each other. The caves are warm even without fire. The Russian troops are in the best of spirits and have unlimited confidence in their leaders. They expect Kuropatkin to attack during the winter. The Russian forces now number 300,000 men. The equipment from the Don District are superior to their Siberian comrades. The former are intelligent, brave and active and have fine, powerful horses."

"There are only a few hundred wounded at Mukden and thirty thousand wounded at Harbin."

"I came out on the Siberian Railroad which seemed to be doing its tremendous work smoothly. The warehouses along the railroad between Mukden and Harbin are full of supplies which are almost untouched as yet to the present the army has subsisted chiefly on the country. The handling of the Russian artillery is improving while the Japanese artillery seems less effective. Originally the Russians did not conceal their artillery while the Japanese quickly disabled. Now the Russians handle and conceal their guns with perfect science. The belief is general at Mukden that Port Arthur will hold out till relieved, no matter how long the much-expectant Russian second Pacific squadron make take in reaching the Far East."

"General Kuropatkin is not talkative. His only reference to the war was: 'The war is progressing as I wish.'"

"He still lives in his railroad car and the light in his office is burning night and day. It is commonly stated that the General never sleeps. His officers are not surprised at being called to a conference at any hour of the night. The General's only relaxation is at dinner time, when the officers, who are his guests number scores. Wine is plentiful but Kuropatkin drinks mineral water. Every Russian officer seems to have an unlimited supply of money, the government being lavish in its expenditure. 'It is my opinion that Kuropatkin will never retreat from Mukden unless defeated decisively and I think the next battle will be a Russian victory.'" centralization of government in St. Petersburg has to a great extent alienated the people from the throne.

Article IV, Not yet worked out in detail.

Article V, That, in order that Russia may be governed properly, there must be absolute freedom of conscience, religion, speech and press.

Article VI, That all inhabitants of Russia, without regard being had to position and religion, and no matter to what class they belong, must enjoy equal and the same civil and political rights; inasmuch as the bulk of the Russian nation consists of peasants, these latter must have the same access to the courts of justice as other people.

Article VII, That every person, irrespective of position, shall have the right to vote for members of the Zemstvos or be himself elected thereto.

Article VIII, Not yet worked out, but deals with the recommendation that there shall be two legislative houses, not on the British plan, but a lower house to consist of members of the Zemstvos and an upper house to be modeled on that of the American Senate. As it is of such importance, this point is under discussion.

Article IX, That every person shall have the right, through his member of the legislative body, to have a voice in the formation of new legislation, the general control of the government, and confirmation of the budget.

Article X, That in order that the recommendation made by the commission may be brought into force in such a way as to be of the greatest benefit to the people, a general plebiscite should be taken all over Russia.

Such is the draft up to date of the proposals which will be placed before the Emperor in reply to his appeal to the chosen members of the Zemstvos to draw up the general lines on which Russia might possibly be granted a constitution. As every one will note, the proposals are not lacking in breadth of range or in liberality of ideas.

Not So Much After All.

(By Associated Press.)
MUKDEN, Nov. 28.—There seems to be undue importance attached to the (Jap-Japs) fight between the Japanese and General Amurkampi's men. It was in reality an unimportant advance guard affair, in which the Japanese were repulsed with a loss of one hundred men. This advance of the Japanese against Da Puse need not be considered as a big flanking movement toward the Pass, which so many imagine the route the Japanese intend to take. Both the Japanese armies are united, near Mukden and as heretofore are simply awaiting developments. The weather is warmer and there is less wind. The navigation of the Liao River will close in a day or two.

ADAMS CONFIDENT; HAS RENTED HOUSE

Woman Arrested in Colorado Charged With Buying Votes at Election.

(By Associated Press.)
DENVER, COL., November 28.—Governor-elect Alva Adams came to Denver from his home in Pueblo to-day and will remain until after the banquet to be given in his honor to-morrow night. He does not take the threat of the Republicans to prevent his accession to the governorship seriously, and has rented a house for the two years of his term.

"The canvass of the votes in Denver and Pueblo counties has not been completed, but from the unofficial returns, it appears that the Democrats will control the Senate by a majority of two or three."

Mrs. Rose Snyder was arrested to-day on warrants charging her with buying votes at the late election. Lizzie Cummings and other women have made admissions that Mrs. Snyder gave them $5 each to vote the Republican ticket. Mrs. Snyder is a complainant in one of the cases against Democrats arrested on warrants issued by United States Commissioner Capron, charging conspiracy to intimidate voters in violation of a Federal statute. The case came up in Commissioner Capron's court to-day, but the hearings were postponed, although George Alton Smith, attorney for the defendant, demanded an immediate trial, declaring that "these suits were brought simply for political purposes and not for purposes of justice."

A number of other election cases are before the courts.

According to the evidence the men carried the car from the Ocean Steamship's wharf to the Central Junction and thence to the Atlantic Coast Line Company's yard. The act is regarded as one of the boldest in the history of railroad.

He expects that this plan will be carried out within sixty days."

"Sherlock Holmes."

"Sherlock Holmes" as a dramatic character, with a pronounced merit, is said to rank with the best known stage triumphs of recent years. While its greater strength lies in pointing out the complex phases of Sir A. Conan Doyle's complex detective problems and shedding light upon the intricacies of human life, it is particularly much of the play's overwhelming success may be attributed to a charming vein of humor which underlies the whole absorbing structure. William Gillette, in shaping Sir Doyle's familiar hero for the stage, again displayed all those facts which guaranteed the success of "The Professor." "Too Much Johnson," and a number of his own comedies, which are still held in grateful remembrance. It was a dangerous undertaking to work up such serious material as Sir Doyle could supply into a respectable theatrical trim, and more especially to provide sufficient humor to counteract the somberness of one of the "Sherlock Holmes" stories. However, Mr. Gillette accomplished his purpose, and the splendid public are the gainers through his splendid achievement. "Sherlock Holmes" will be given a worthy presentation at the Academy this afternoon and to-night.
